DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

PART I: THE PROTEIN – Multiple sequences are possible for the claimed protein, including substitutions at several positions. Applicant is required to elect one specific sequence for the protein recited in the claims for initial examination.

PART II: THE DNA – Multiple nucleic acid sequences are recited in the claims, including those encoding for substitutional variant proteins. Applicant is required to elect one specific DNA sequence that encodes the variant protein sequence elected for PART I.

PART III: THE SIGNAL SEQUENCE – The claims recite an optional signal peptide that can be one of several different sequences. Applicant is required to elect a single sequence for the optional signal peptide for initial examination.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species from each of Parts I, II and III to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are examples of generic claims: 1, 5, 8.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The PCT rules define a special technical feature as a feature that makes a contribution over the prior art. Each sequence makes its own contribution over the prior art, since a single sequence does not anticipate nor render obvious another specific sequence. Therefore, each sequence encompassed by the claims has its own special technical feature.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
